

0.2 Tutorial: Capstone Introduction

Capstone Tutorial

Hello and welcome to the capstone project! This is a simulated management experience in which you will get to interact with a client, an expert, and a development team. You will help all these parties to deliver a successful product.

The videos are filmed from your point of view—it's as if you are sitting there at the table with them. See that shadow? That's you! You are the software product manager for this project!

Each week you will have a series of videos to watch and assignments to complete. Please make sure that you are also completing the peer reviews for you MOOC-mates! The capstone project works best if you complete it on the suggested schedule.

So what are you waiting for? Go ahead, and get started!
