

Meet Your Facilitators

Cecilia Xiang is the facilitator for UAlberta professional development specializations: Software Product Management and Software Design and Architecture. She received her BSc. in Computing Science from the University of Alberta and worked as a Full Stack Software Developer before joining the MOOC team. She loves building side projects, playing video games, and watching lots of Netflix. When she isn't glued to a screen, she spends time reading books, learning Japanese, and trying very hard not to be the worst player at Squash. She is a huge fan of online learning and believes education happens everywhere, not just in the classroom.

Emma McDonald has a Bachelor of Science in Mathematics and Computing Science degree from the University of Alberta and works as a MOOC developer.
