0.8 Resource: Software Product Manager Job Posting

You just applied to the job posting below for the role of Junior Software Product Manager. Make sure you are familiar with the responsibilities for this role before you continue with the Capstone:

Junior Software Product Manager, Education Software

Inukshuk Books - Edmonton, Alberta

Employment Type: Full-time, Regular

Position Overview

Inukshuk Books is a leader in providing reading opportunities to people across the globe. In supporting our goal of creating a future where children and adults are not held back because of illiteracy, Inukshuk Books is committed to developing world-class educational software. We are seeking a software product manager to help produce the software that will allow Inukshuk Books to achieve this goal. Your future starts here!

Responsibilities

- Leading development strategy for one or more education software products
- Representing customer and company requirements to guide the development of relevant products
- Interacting with internal and external product stakeholders to develop requirements
- Creating, presenting and defending business cases for new products
- Creating plans for product development
- Creating phased release and iteration (sprint) plans for product development
- Leading cross-functional product development teams to ensure that development of new products is on target with customer requirements
- Creating product risk plans

Desired Skills & Qualifications

- Excellent written and verbal communication skills with strong problem-solving and proven, superior teamwork competencies
- Proven ability to influence cross-functional teams without formal authority
- Ability to facilitate diverse customer discussions and negotiate requirements using a phased release approach
- Experience and coursework in software product management considered a strong asset

Complete